Since 2001, PrimeAir has been providing the best GSSA services in Latin America to the biggest players in the air cargo industry – like Atlas Air, Polar Air Cargo, and Emirates SkyCargo, just to name a few. With the smartest, savviest and shrewdest team in the business, PrimeAir makes cargo services, operations, handling and accounting easy and reliable for airlines working in Latin America. PrimeAir knows the people, the policies and the tricks of the trade in every local market. A global service combined with local knowledge is the key to profitable operations throughout the continent. We benefit from being part of the Prime Group, a network of coordinated cargo and freight specialists with offices and representatives worldwide.

PrimeAir's Miami headquarters is an easy point of contact for airlines coming from all over the world, and a convenient hub for information. Our Ecuador and Colombia offices closely supervise the action on the ground throughout Latin America and have decades of experience handling perishables that make up a significant portion of the market. Specialty skills, like certifications for attention and dispatch of aircraft, experience managing airport and cargo security and an experimented international team of customs specialists means that airline operations on the ground are clean and efficient.
